

The project was managed in Azure DevOps using a CI/CD pipeline implementation, hosted in Azure. We decided on .Net Core with Blazor Razor pages, MongoDB for database and MAUI for Android and WebClient build targets. The project was a complete rewrite of the existing software, with a focus on modularity and scalability, so we used a microservice architecture with a frontend server, core server, and various recognition module servers.